

WAR MEANS THE DEATH OF SNOBS, THE REJUVENATION OF SOCIETY, ELEVATION OF THE REAL WOMAN

By ELINOR GLYNN, Author of "Three Weeks" and Other Novels.

LONDON, Eng., May 21.—Only one thing will count after the war. That is character. I used to be an anti-suffragist and the most arrogant of conservatives. Now I am a suffragist and a democrat. This war means the death of cult and snobbery, except the snobbery of brains. That will never die and perhaps it is worth preserving.

But the reverence for blood and family and position, which made people accept almost anyone with these has been destroyed. The war has shown the courage, the knowledge of how to suffer and be strong, the adaptability to fit oneself to one's surroundings, are not the prerogatives only of those with tradition and breeding, generations of both, behind them.

Today, more than ever before, women are true to themselves, and one can write truth of them. They are dropping intricate petty deceptions, the subtle which was a heritage from the time when they had to use these weapons against brute force. The dramatic instinct and hysteria they revealed in are gone forever.

I used to think women had not sufficiently proved their worth, and ability to be given a vote. There are outstanding types of fine, splendid women, of course, but women as women in mass, seemed to me not fitted for great things.

I know now I was wrong. They have had a great opportunity of proving their worth and they have not been found wanting. They have done wonderful things and the reward will not have to be demanded; it will be given. I can vision them going on accomplishing, achieving. One can not set any bounds to what they may attain.

But most of all they must be true to themselves. I wish that could be a sort of Promethean fire in the souls of all girls of today.

By truth and concentration one can get all things, and, above all things, happiness. The girl of the future has such a magnificent chance. She will start untrammelled by convention and tradition. The war has made a new world for her.

Social life will be greatly changed. I don't know now. I know that if I like a person it does not matter to me who or what he or she is in life or what their antecedents may have been. I like them for what I get from them—brains and force of character.

And dislike or hate—well, that must die. It is bad for anyone to hate, bad mentally and physically. Take happiness into your soul from the golden rays of the sun and you will be clothed in shining armor against envy and enmity.

HEADACHES

Thousands of men and women suffer from headaches every day, other thousands have headaches every week or every month, and still others have headaches occasionally, but not at regular intervals. The best doctor is often unable to find the cause of many of these headaches, and in most other cases, knowing the cause, he does not know what will remove it, so as to give a permanent cure. All he can do is prescribe the usual pain relievers, which give temporary relief, but the headache returns as usual, and treatment is again necessary. If you suffer from headaches and have been unable to remove the cause, take anti-kamnia tablets, and obtain the greatest possible relief. You can obtain them at all drug stores in any quantity, be worth 50c worth or more. Ask for A-K Tablets.

SICK-HEADACHES

Sick headache, the most miserable of all ailments, lessens its terrors when A-K Tablets are taken. When you feel an attack coming on take two tablets, and in many cases, the attack will be wiped off. During an attack take one A-K Tablet every two hours. The rest and comfort which follow, can be obtained in no other way.

Miss Bowen Is Highly Praised For Her Los Angeles Recital

MISS NELLIE MAY BOWEN, a young pianist, of El Paso, more than usual promise, was presented in recital by her teacher, Thilo Becker, on May 25, at the Little Theater, Los Angeles. Her program included the Etudes Symphoniques, Schumann, a group of numbers by Debussy, Scott and Blanchett, and a final group from Liszt, Ravel and Saint-Saens. A reviewer says of her work:

"Throughout this interesting program Miss Bowen proved herself to be an artist of genuine music gifts, showing freedom and brilliancy of technique that approached the virtuoso style and was at all times filled with feeling and a very real originality of interpretation. Especially notable were her interpretations of the works of Debussy, Schumann, Liszt, and Saint-Saens. Her playing of Liszt's 'Les Colloques d'Anacris' was especially done. In this as in other works she showed a warm, intimate, and shown a warmth of tone color, a delicacy of touch and shading, that were altogether delightful.

"No less interesting were Miss Bowen's interpretations of Debussy's 'Minuet' and 'Blanche'." "Serenade." Miss Bowen's fluency of technique and ball like tones lend to works of this character a most delightful charm. Perhaps, as a whole, her final group, 'Valse Impromptu,' Liszt, 'Jeux d'Eau,' Ravel, and 'Etude en Forme de Valse,' Saint-Saens, showed her versatility the greatest scope for display, but the whole program was played with so much ease and variety of expression that it would be difficult or impossible to point to any moment as being above the supreme excellence of the whole.

"There was a very large and fashionable audience, and Miss Bowen's charm and personal magnetism, added to her splendid pianistic equipment, called forth much enthusiasm and demonstrations of hearty appreciation.

"The program was given on the 27th was as follows:

Selections—St. Cecilia's orchestra.

Drama—Eighteenth, Seventh, Sixth grade girls.
